

Links to documents requested by Academia.

Aaron Sloman

School of Computer Science, University of Birmingham.

EMAIL a.sloman [at] cs.bham.ac.uk

---

Last updated: 24 Oct 2014

If you don't find what you are looking for at the top of this list, it may be in the "Previously sent" list below.

---

Item requested on Fri 24 Oct 2014:

A copy of your talk "Supervenience and Causation in Virtual Machinery."
(Requested by M.B.)

This is included in my online collection of PDF presentations here:

<http://www.cs.bham.ac.uk/research/projects/cogaff/talks/#talk86>

It is also available in flash format on slideshare.net here:

<http://www.slideshare.net/asloman/virtuality-causation>

If you need to communicate with me it is MUCH better to do so directly via my email address (above), if you can, than via academia, since Academia will not let me reply directly to you. It seems to want to have access to all communication between its members.

Previously sent items listed at end of this document.

---

The problem:

From time to time Academia writes to me about one of my online papers or presentations, already freely available at my departmental web site, with a request of this form:

X has requested a copy of your talk/paper Y.

If you would like to upload a copy for X and all other Academia.edu users to see, click the link below...

But it never gives me an email address so that I can answer X directly by sending a link to X.

This seems to be a very nasty attempt to force me to upload my papers to Academia, which I refuse to do because they are already freely available in one place, and if I produce updates (as I sometimes do) I want to have only one location for each update.

Solution.

From now on, each time I get such a request I'll add a link to Y to the top of this file, move the previous top link to the list below, then send a copy of this web page, with a new name, to academia in answer to the request.

In that case I'll provide what the academia member really wants, and leave the information visible for anyone else who wants to find my paper on academia.

I have also provided information below about the locations where other papers can be found.

Academia will not accept papers in html format, so I've had to convert html to pdf for submission. Very annoying.

---

Other papers, presentations, etc.

A partial index of online papers, discussion notes and talks is in <http://www.cs.bham.ac.uk/research/projects/cogaff/misc/AREADME.html>

The Cognition and Affect Project papers, along with other publications before and since can be found here:

<http://www.cs.bham.ac.uk/research/projects/cogaff/>

A collection of presentations, mostly in PDF format, some also copied to slideshare.net where they are available in flash format, is here:

<http://www.cs.bham.ac.uk/research/projects/cogaff/talks#reverse>

Some online videos are available here

<http://www.cs.bham.ac.uk/research/projects/cogaff/movies>

---

Previously sent items:

- Item requested on Tue, 7 Oct 2014: A copy of your talk "Aaron Sloman - Meta-Morphogenesis - How a Planet can produce Minds, Mathematics and Music." Try the following:
Project overview:
<http://www.cs.bham.ac.uk/research/projects/cogaff/misc/meta-morphogenesis.html>

Talks on the project
<http://www.cs.bham.ac.uk/research/projects/cogaff/talks/#talk107>
- Item requested on Fri, 3 Oct 2014:
A copy of your book "The Computer Revolution in Philosophy: Philosophy science and models of mind" (1978).
Originally published 1978. Now out of print. Scanned in 2001, converted to html, with additional notes and comments added from time to time. This is available in both PDF and HTML formats here
<http://www.cs.bham.ac.uk/research/projects/cogaff/crp/>

---

Maintained by Aaron Sloman
School of Computer Science
The University of Birmingham